

Cape Cod Toy Library

Cape Cod Toy Library's first "home" is at the First Lutheran Church (FLC).

@ 1663 Main Street (6A), West Barnstable

FLC has generously provided space for our toy library collection as well as use of their Fellowship Hall. Acquiring furnishings is vital to create an engaging family play learning environment.

Primary Goals for the Environment:

- To be a model learning environment for children and adults.
- To integrate theories on how children and families learn.
- To strengthen the link between literacy and play.

Benefits for Children:

- Improved outcomes. The quality of the environment is crucial to children's development.
- Developmentally appropriate practice. Play is an important vehicle for developing critical cognitive and social skills. Young children learn best through open-ended, self-directed play creating a foundation for learning that will last a lifetime.
- Safe designs. The child-centered products we've selected include pinch free hinges, childproof latches, and rounded edges and use green chemistry to be BPA and PVC free.

Benefits for Parents:

- Peace of mind. Parents need to feel confident that they're bringing their children to a safe and healthy setting.
- Successful children. A high-quality learning environment supports, open-ended, creative play as well as exploratory science and math play – for enriching play experiences that develop children's knowledge, problem solving and social skills.
- Satisfaction. Parents will feel gratified by the enjoyable experiences they have with their children in a quality environment.

“The materials, equipment, and context for play ...influence children’s play preferences and behaviors...
The environment signals to children what they can do...”

from “Physical Environments and Children’s Play” Joe L. Frost, Dongju Shin, and Paul J. Jacobs in Multiple Perspectives on Play in Early Childhood Development
